

How to setup a dialup account

You will need to know the phone number to dial in to your provider. If you do not have the dialup number you will need to get it from you provider before you start.

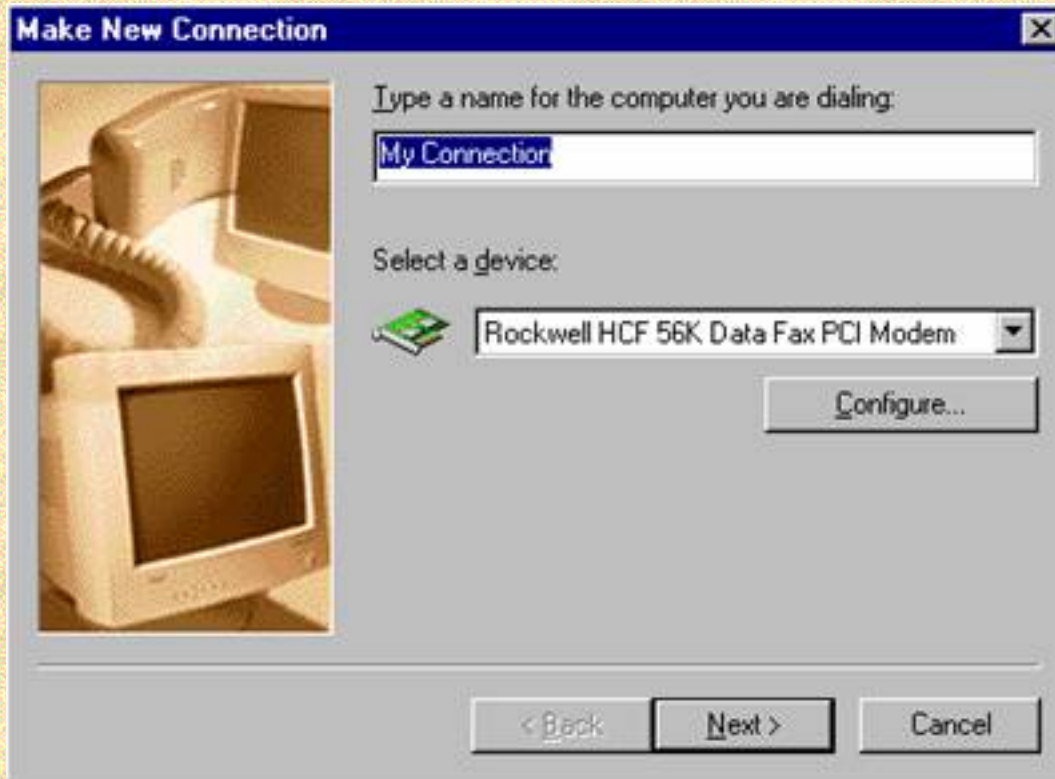

1) Right click on Internet explorer and click properties.

2) Click on the connections tab and click add

3) In the make new connection you can name this or leave the default and click next.

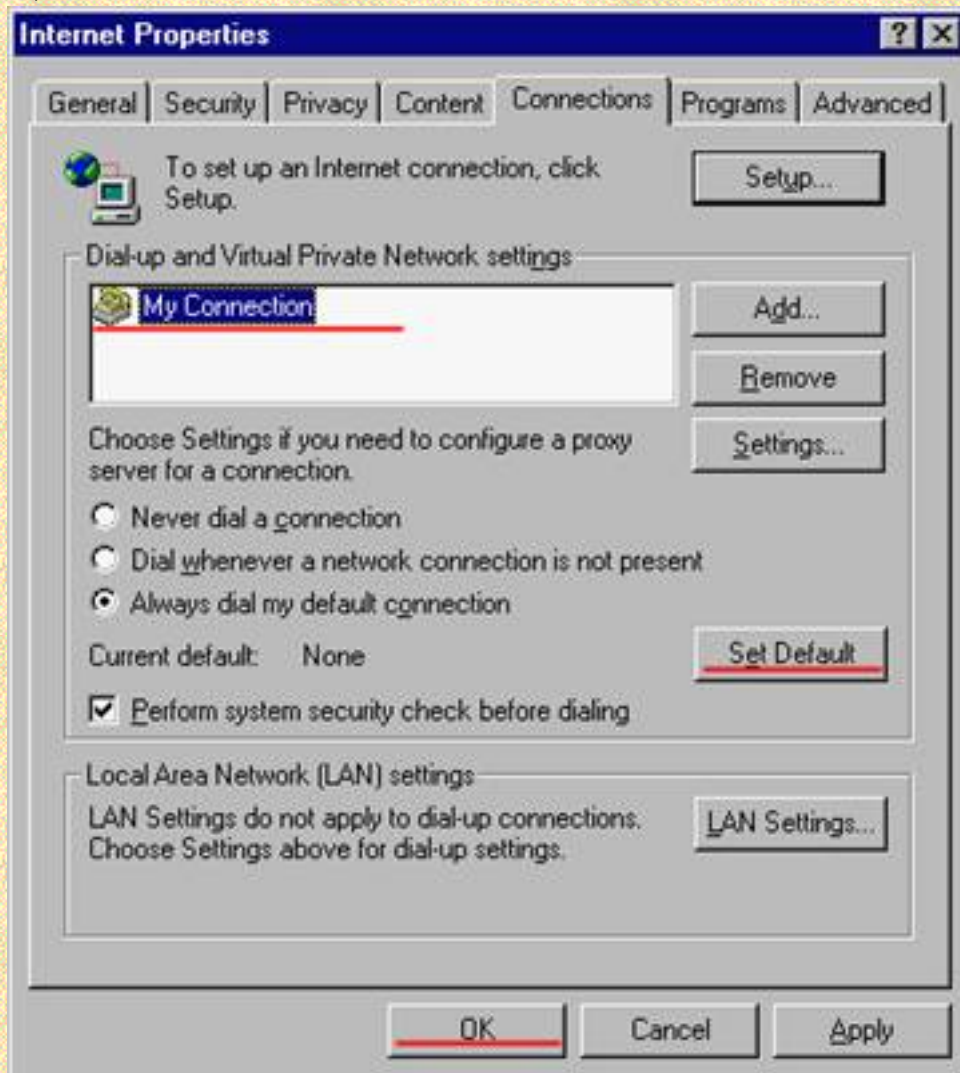

4) Enter the area code and phone number then click next. (If it is long distant you will be charged for the call)

5) Click finish.

6) Select the connection and click set default and click OK

7) Test the connection by opening Internet explorer. Internet explorer should dial in to the Internet.
